RUSSIAN CONSTRUCTION WEEK

RosBuild
International Exhibition
for Building & Finishing Materials and Technologies

Mir Stekla
International
Exhibition

A series of trade shows and conventions dedicated to the construction industry, covering a wide range of issues

Building the Future of Russia Together
Forum

Salon of Low-rise House Construction

The main objective is to unite the exhibition and convention potential of the Russian construction industry to implement state programmes and national projects, programmes for renovation of the housing stock, formation of a modern urban environment, and digitalisation of the construction industry

"Russian Construction Week is a large-scale platform which, for a number of years, has brought together representatives of the authorities and the construction business to discuss issues affecting the further development of the industry and the improvement of living standards."

Marat Khusnullin
Deputy Prime Minister of the Russian Federation

"Very interesting exhibition. And most importantly, it is changing. It has changed in appearance even in comparison with the last year, let alone three years ago.
It is saturated, filled with companies presenting their products, projects and activities. The exhibition is changing for the better.
Moreover, today's plenary session is fundamentally different from previous plenary sessions. It has become substantive, aimed at solving existing problems rather than at reporting on what has been done. Only through cooperation between business, the authorities, experts and the scientific community is it possible to solve all the tasks set both in the country and in specific regions."

Head of the Department of Urban Planning Policy of the City of Visitor interests

"This is our first time at RosBuild. We are ready to show, speak and make contacts. On the first day we saw a lot of interesting things. Customers, designers and contractors come to our stand. They are keenly interested in the materials. There is also great interest in our new products."

Ivan Ivanov

Head of Development at Gazpromneft –
Bitumen Materials

"Today Russian Construction Week has started. It began with a plenary session, which, on the one hand, summarises certain results, and on the other, sets goals and objectives for the coming years, so that entrepreneurs in this field, including those involved in the production of building materials, and those involved in developing complex and low-rise construction, can plan their activities. It is at Russian Construction Week and RosBuild that we always have the opportunity to showcase our products and agree on new contacts and areas for development. Maybe we should put more emphasis on import substitution and on creating a set of offers that would be as adaptable as possible to today's requirements."

Elena Nikolaeva

Moscow City Duma Deputy,
Chair of the Town Planning Commission

"This is the first time we have taken part in RosBuild. We really liked the organisation and the fact that there was a conference programme. There are a lot of exhibitors. We meet a lot of interesting people. We decided to take part in the exhibition, because our company, which is 30 years old, was kind of in the shadow of the construction market, because our main customers were the window manufacturers. The builders didn't know about us as a construction resources company. And RosBuild is a platform for us to make ourselves known. We are confident that we will participate in the exhibition next year as well."

Artyom Myakotkin

Head of the Design Department
at TBM

"The Iran Chamber of Cooperatives is the organiser of the Islamic Republic of Iran's national pavilion at RosBuild. The 260 square metre stand hosted 15 companies, which are among the best in the field. Our main goal in taking part in RosBuild is to promote international relations between Iran and Russia. The trade show is organised at the highest level. Definitely, we are already planning our participation in the next Russian Construction Week, and will attract more and more companies with big stands."

Ali Moti' Jahani

Member of Board of Directors at Iran Chamber of Cooperatives and Deputy for Administration and Financial Affairs

"This is our first time at the exhibition. We decided to come, because there is a lot of target audience here: major customers, developers. This audience is very interesting for us. And live communication with the customer is always an advantage. You can share your competencies and experience, present new products well, and talk about competitive advantages of our products. Our impression of RosBuild is very positive. We plan to take part in it in the future."
